LEARNING IN SCHOOL, HOME AND COMMUNITY

ICT for Early and Elementary Education

IFIP TC3 / WG3.5 International Working Conference on Learning with Technologies in School, Home and Community June 30–July 5, 2002, Manchester, United Kingdom

Edited by

Gail Marshall
Gail Marshall and Associates
USA

Yaacov Katz
Bar-Ilan University
Israel

KLUWER ACADEMIC PUBLISHERS
BOSTON / DORDRECHT / LONDON
Contents

Preface vii

Part One: Learning

Learning in school and out: Formal and informal experiences with computer games in mathematical contexts
Nicola Yelland 3

Using technology to encourage social problem solving in preschoolers
Mandy B. Medvin, Diana Reed, Deborah Behr and Elizabeth Spargo 13

Using electronic mail communication and metacognitive instruction to improve mathematical problem solving
Bracha Kramarski and Adiva Liberman 21

Online searching as apprenticeship
Matthew Pearson 31

The use of virtual reality three-dimensional simulation technology in nursery school teacher training for the understanding of children’s cognitive perceptions
Yaacov J. Katz 41

Exploring visible mathematics with IMAGINE: Building new mathematical cultures with a powerful computational system
Ivan Kalas and Andrej Blaho 53
Cooperative networks enable shared knowledge: Rapid dissemination of innovative ideas and digital culture

Kate Crawford

Part Two: Teaching

Developing an ICT capability for learning

Steve Kennewell

Separated by a common technology? Factors affecting ICT-related activity in home and school

David Benzie

The interaction between primary teachers' perceptions of ICT and their pedagogy

Avril M. Loveless

Capacity building in tele-houses: A model for tele-mentoring

Márta Turcsányi-Szabó

Part Three: Policy

ICT for rural education: A developing country perspective

Pedro Hepp and Ernesto Laval

National plans and local challenges: Preparing for lifelong learning in a digital society

Sindre Røsvik

Learning online: E-learning and the domestic market in the UK

Margaret Scanlon and David Buckingham

Glimpses of educational transformation: Making choices at a turning point

Bridget S. Somekh

How do we know that ICT has an impact on children's learning? A review of techniques and methods to measure changes in pupils' learning promoted by the use of ICT

Margaret J. Cox

Index