

Historical Perspectives on Climate Change

James Rodger Fleming

New York / Oxford
Oxford University Press
1998

ISBN: 0-19-507870-5

CONTENTS

- Introduction: Apprehending Climate Change 3
- 1 Climate and Culture in Enlightenment Thought 11
 - 2 The Great Climate Debate in Colonial and Early America 21
 - 3 Privileged Positions: The Expansion of Observing Systems 33
 - 4 Climate Discourse Transformed 45
 - 5 Joseph Fourier's Theory of Terrestrial Temperatures 55
 - 6 John Tyndall, Svante Arrhenius, and Early Research on Carbon
Dioxide and Climate 65
 - 7 T. C. Chamberlin and the Geological Agency of the Atmosphere 83
 - 8 The Climatic Determinism of Ellsworth Huntington 95
 - 9 Global Warming? The Early Twentieth Century 107
 - 10 Global Cooling, Global Warming: Historical Dimensions 129
- Notes 139
- Bibliography 167
- Index 190